

Great Green Facts About Electric Mowers

- Minimal environmental impact. Electric mowers produce FAR less pollution than gas mowers.
- Quiet operation. Gas mowers run loudly at about 90 decibels (ear-protectors are recommended when in use) compared to normal conversation – typically 75 decibels. Electric mowers operate in the 65 to 85 decibel range – considerably quieter and certainly more neighbor-friendly!
- Reduced operating costs. Electric costs are estimated to be between $3 and $5 per year for corded models and $0.10 per charge for cordless models. Gas mowers cost $20 to $30 per year – or more! – for gas and oil, plus they require tune-ups.
- No gas or oil required. Electric mowers do not require oil changes, so there is no concern about disposal of used oil and because no gas is used, there is no danger of spilling gas during fill-ups.
